

Official Air Force Aerospace Medicine Approved Medications

Over the Counter (OTC) Medications Aircrew Are Allowed to Take Without Flight Surgeon Approval.

The following is a list of medications that may be used by aircrew for minor conditions that do not interfere with flight duties. “Occasional OTC use”, as referenced in this medication list, is defined as a maximum of 72 hours of continuous use unless specifically stated otherwise. All medication must be taken in accordance with the directions on the package. No other medications may be taken without consultation with a flight surgeon. All medications and immunizations used by flying and special operational duty personnel must be FDA approved.

Effective: 1 Feb 2022

(Note: This list supersedes the medication list dated 10 Feb 2021. Minor correction to include famotidine with other PPI and H2 blockers.)
